WIDEAWAKE

There are wideawake stores and wideawake people. This is a wideawake store for wideawake people.

A wideawake store is one that provides the best goods, enough of them, not too many; sells them liberally, and takes the responsibility for 'em.

Wideawake buyers distinguish between the asleep and wideawake stores, between the true and the false, between the close and generous dealing, between the take your chance and responsible stores, and between the goods that are sold therein.

SPECULATING!

If you are contemplating doing any speculating, take our suggestion and look out for a good piece of real estate. Then speculate to your heart's content. But never speculate on feed for your stock. You will find it worse than real estate.

If you contemplate buying any new feed for your stock, it will pay you to buy it of us. You are in no wise speculating. It is a sure investment, and your money will be well placed. Who wants sick or poisoned stock? The result of a speculation.

It is as much to our interest to see that what you buy is as it should be—perfect—as it is yours to give it to your stock. Our judgment effects us the most if we err.

CALIFORNIA PEARL FISHERIES.

The value of the pearls found during the year 1896 on the gulf of Lower California amounted to $350,000. Besides, there were, however, also exported 5000 tons of mussel shells, the value of which was estimated at a further $1,250,000. The pearl fishing with apparatus forms the entire occupation of the natives, and La Paz, the capital for this trade in the peninsula, exists exclusively upon this industry. Until a few years ago only native divers had been employed, and the greatest depth to which they could dive was thirty-five feet. Upon the introduction of the modern diving apparatus a depth of 180 feet was accomplished, and while formerly the best divers could not remain longer than two minutes under water, a modern diver thinks nothing of staying for two hours at a depth of 100 feet, although at a still greater depth the stay is necessarily shortened on account of the enormous volume of water above. The pearl fishing is mostly a matter of good luck, and this is the great charm which attracts the natives, who are almost without exception born gamblers. It is known that not every oyster contains a pearl, and a really valuable one is only now and then met with. Most of the pearls which are found in the waters of Lower California are so-called seed pearls of a very modest value. The divers do not limit themselves to the pearl oysters, but whenever they come across a rare piece of coral or a new kind of mussel, they pocket these likewise.

ADMIRAL MILLER ARRIVES.

Career of the New Commander of the Pacific Squadron.

Rear Admiral Joseph N. Miller arrived on the China today. He will relieve Rear Admiral L. A. Beardslee of the command of the Pacific squadron of the United States navy early next week.

Admiral Miller is a native of Springfield, O. He was not quite fifteen years of age when he entered the Naval Academy in October, 1851, as an acting midshipman. He was graduated with honors in June, 1854, after serving two years on the frigate Independence in the Pacific. He was promoted to passed midshipman in November, 1856, his twentieth birthday. He saw some stirring service on the Florida coast during the exciting times of the war and was aboard when the brig captured the privateer Savannah. The Admiral belongs to the old school of line officers and has many good qualities as an officer that make him loved by the officers and men under him.

The Philadelphia will continue to be the flagship of the squadron until the Baltimore is turned over to Admiral Miller for that purpose, which is expected to take place in the very near future.

THEY HAVE A CRY.

Lieutenant Elliott Drills the "Water Babies" in a Yell.

It is very trying for the young ladies of the city to decide just which team they will pull for on Friday. From present indications it would seem that the naval officers will have as many friends among the fairer sex who will wave the blue and old gold as the Town players, whose color is red.

The "Water Babies" have evolved a yell. A moonlight boating party last evening overheard Lieutenant Elliott drilling his men in it on board the Philadelphia. As overheard, it runs something like this:

"Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah!"

"R A H Y!"

"Ah Goo! Ki y!"

"We are too small

"To play base ball.

"We all drink milk;

"We're fine as silk.

"Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah!"

The Townies have a yell and a mascot, but they will disclose neither at this time.

The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock. The ladies of the Stranger's Friend Society are hoping that there will be a large attendance.

THREE NAVIES.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says: "According to the latest official report the Japanese navy consists of two first class battle ships and six projected; one second class battle ship, captured from the Chinese; five armored cruisers, ten second class cruisers and six building or projected, and seventeen vessels which may be ranked as third class cruisers. Spain has one first class battleship and one building, one port defense ship, eight first class cruisers and three building, six second class cruisers, one building; ninety-nine third class cruisers, three building; thirty-six first class torpedo craft, two building, and two second class torpedo craft. The United States has twelve seagoing battle ships, two armored cruisers in commission, one ram, six double turret monitors, fourteen single turret monitors, besides a considerable number of other vessels."

Cures
Talk

"Cures talk" in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in truthful, convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute its most effective advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people; have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world, and have made necessary for its manufacture the greatest laboratory on earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made—cures of scrofula, salt rheum and eczema, cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cures of dyspepsia, liver and kidney troubles, catarrh and malaria.

Such Cures as This Prove Merit.

"My little nephew was a plump and healthy baby until a year and a half old, then sores broke out behind his ears and spread rapidly over his head, hands and body. A physician said the trouble was scrofula humor in the blood. The child became one complete sore. We had to restrain his hands to keep him from scratching the sores. We were induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a short time he had more life. He improved rapidly, his skin became entirely clear of sores and he is now a healthy child." MRS. More About

GRAPES

At the Experiment Station at Fredonia, N. Y., tankage, potash and bone were applied to the soil in various mixtures with each other and singly. Out of the 100 rows planted, the six rows in which the

Muriate of Potash

was used left no doubt as to the requirements of the land. Scarcely a berry was lost, nor were the leaves "blighted" to any greater extent than might be expected so late in the season. The remainder of the plots showed improvement directly in proportion to the amount of potash used.
